

To Whom It May Concern:

(Introduction) I am currently completing my third year of residency in emergency medicine ..... This is a four year residency program which I will complete in July. I am currently seeking a full time academic faculty position at your hospital. Please accept this as my letter of interest for the position.

As a hardworking and motivated physician, I have developed a strong background in the clinical and didactic education of medical students and residents. I was the director of medical education at our residency program and organized the lectures given to medical students during their externships. I also worked as a liaison with these students among other residents and faculty. This unique experience has provided me substantial experience in the academic aspects of emergency medicine.

..... is a Level 1 trauma center, a STEMI Center with a 24 hour cath-lab, a stroke center annual census of 50,000 visits. My training experience with this high volume of acutely ill patients in a diverse population makes me an excellent candidate to practice academic emergency medicine. During residency I also worked at various smaller community based practices which taught me to work in a community setting with limited resources.

My training program and leadership positions have only sharpened the dedicated, hardworking person I am. I have excelled in a variety of leadership and clinical activities. I look forward to continuing my career in emergency medicine in an academic institution. I have attached my CV to this letter for your review. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,
